

Joshua Williams

Josh is a Supervisory Examiner in the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania Field Office. His position is located in the Division of Depositor and Consumer Protection of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) and provides support in the areas of planning, directing, and coordinating the work of a team of Examiners. Josh joined the FDIC in 2010 and has extensive specialized experience in evaluating Compliance Management System programs, determining consumer harm risk levels, and analyzing Community Reinvestment Act performance levels. Prior to his current position, Josh was a Supervisory Examiner (Compliance) in the Harrisburg, Pennsylvania Field Office, a Senior Compliance Examiner, and an Acting Review Examiner in the New York Regional Office. Josh graduated from The Pennsylvania State University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Finance.